That's right... You'll never have to cook again!
Now your 8-year-old can cook for herself.
These ready to heat and serve meals can be
"cooked" in your daughter's Easy-Bake oven.
Plus there is no expiration date on the package!
The food packages are made in the U.S.A. and then shipped to China where they are repackaged and then shipped back to the U.S.A.

Wild West Play Set

$4.26

Relive the excitement of the old west with this 30-piece Wild West play set. With 20 "Cowboys and Indians" equipped with guns and hatchets aimed at each other. Replay the battle of Little Big Horn with any result you wish. These fine western themed toys were designed in the U.S.A. and produced in China.

Sassy Jackie Doll

$1.76

Do you want your little girl to grow up looking and acting like Sassy Jackie? Don't be fooled by the imitations. Sassy Jackie is the original short-skirted, trash-talking, style diva, and at twice the price is still ten times less expensive than anything out there. Made and packaged in China.

50 Layer Lint Roller

$1.88

At the end of Michael Moore's debut film "Roger and Me", the city government of Flint, Michigan, saw the production of Helmac Lint Rollers as the best hope to replace the jobs lost in the 1980s. Since then, Helmac has left Flint and now imports much of what it sells, including these lint rollers. Made in Canada.

Vlasic Dill Pickles

$5.79

Vlasic lost so much money selling gallon jars of pickles that it had to declare bankruptcy in 2001. Priced at less than $3.00 a jar, they must have lost money on every single sale. Why would a company sell itself into bankruptcy? Who has room for a gallon of pickles in their fridge? Even at twice the price this 1/2-gallon jar is affordable.

15 Piece Tool Set

$13.76

15 tools for less than the cost of one American made hammer! How do they do it? Made in China.

Rainbow Umbrella

$23.76

The Museum Store at the Museum of Modern Art offers a similar rainbow umbrella for nearly twice as much as it is here. Walm-Art's umbrella is marked 100% from the retail price at Wal-Mart. Made in China.

Etch-A-Sketch

$19.98

In 2001, the employees at the Etch-A-Sketch plant in Byran, Ohio, trained the Chinese workers who would soon relieve them of their duties. When Etch-A-Sketch was first released 45 years ago, it was priced at $3.99. That price adjusted for inflation would be $23.69 today. So even at 2X the price it is still cheaper now. Made in China by workers earning 24 cents an hour. (Source: NY Times 12/07/03)
